mulatto girl, twenty-one years of age, atstreet. She planned the tragic end and carried it out to the point where the Dispenpoint she had not planned and the physicians brought her back to life. The affair | Traffic Manager D. G. Edwards. created quite a sensation in that part of town and large crowds of colored people congregated outside the house and remained there for several hours. When consciousness had been restored to the girl a reporter asked why she desired to make a speedy trip to the other world. She said she had wanted to kill herself, but was glad the doctors had been called in time. She said she had quarreled with her sweetheart and did not care to live. At that time a colored man who had been sitting by the side of her bed bent over her and evidently cautioned her not to say any more. She adoed, however, that she left a note on the table, which said: "Good-bye, from your ranges. Samples of ranges may be seen at broken-hearted friend." It was addressed to "Mose." The woman sent a colored boy named Walter Jones after the poison at 5 o'clock, saying she wanted to kill bugs, and when he returned she drained the bottle and lay down to die.

County School Enumeration.

The County Board of Education yesterday elected James King, 1729 Bellefountaine street, truant officer to succeed W. E. Frivett, of Broad Ripple. The school enum lumbus Barracks, Ohio; Fort Thomas, Ky., and eration that was submitted to the board was for all townships and towns outside of Indianapolis and Woodruff Place. The city enumeration will show that there are 1,000 more school children in Indianapolis now than last year. The last enumeration gave 39,979 to Indianapolis and eighty-eight to Woodruff Place. The figures for the townships for 1900 and 1901 are, respectively; Perry township, 833, 844; Center, 1,064, 1,114; ecatur, 467, 426; Washington, 925, 996; Wayne, 1.024, 1.029; Pike, 605, 605; Warren, 718, 714; Lawrence, 729, 766; Franklin, 692

There were two singers, on a time, Who to the people sang. The song of one was full of joy, And with rare hope it rang; The other sang in hollow tones Of sorrow's scar and pang.

One sang the pride there was in life. With pleasure in each breath; The other tuned in solemn dirge And wailed the frosty hand of age. Which all encompasseth.

The one laughed through his melody, And closed it with a smile; The other chose a tearful tone And held it all the while; And, strangely, either singer had A voice that could beguile.

Said one, who listened for a space, The first is feeble verse. Another heard the song, and said: The second is the worse. And still another said that both Were songs that he could curse.

But came a young man who declared The song of joy was best; And yet an aged man who said The second brought him rest; And still a third, who vowed that both Gave to his life a zest,

A BIG MONTH'S TRAFFIC

THE LOADED CAR MOVEMENT IN APRIL WAS A RECORD BREAKER.

Trunk and Central Passenger Associations Not Involved in the Wabash and Alton Rate War.

In the month of April the fifteen lines centering at Indianapolis handled a total of 116,821 cars, 94,908 being loaded, against 91,206 in April, 1900, 88,933 in 1899, 91,788 in 1898, 79,798 in 1897, and 80,761 in 1896. The business of April, this year, was the most satisfactory in the history of the Indianapolis lines. That such is the case is much of a surprise, as in no April in the many years these records have been kept has the grain movement east been as light as it was last month. In fact there was not 25 per cent. as much grain forwarded as in April, 1900, which was considered an off month in this particular. The handsome carnings of April of the respective lines show a very satisfactory business was moved and that it was largely of what would be termed interstate traffic, which is carried at better rates than through business. Only in shipments of dressed meats, live stock and cerealine products did the tonnage of last month compare favorably, east-bound, with that of April, 1900. West-bound business in the higher-class freights the early part of the month, was in excess of last year, but fell off considerably as the month advanced, in its comparison with last year. The large tonnage of coal handled in April helped matters considerably, and the tonnage of all classes of freight handled by north-and-south roads was in excess of that of the corresponding month of 1900. The Big Four, through the entire month, turned a large per cent. of its business, east-bound, to its Cleveland connection, consequently its interchange of traffic at Cincinnati, in connection with the Chesapeake & Ohio, showed a decided decrease, as compared with the preceding year.

The Western Association Quarrel. A general passenger agent, in commenting on what is termed the Wabash-Alton rate war, remarked that an entirely wrong nor the Trunk-line Association being affected by the quarrel now on. The roads in the Western Passenger Association include the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Chicago & Rock Island, the Santa Fe and the Chicago & Alton. The Wabash was the first to give the notice and was given the first-named title, but Alton gave the notice, with the approval of the other roads named and of the chairman of the association. In passenger circles it is thought highly probable that within a few days the matter will be adjusted; otherwise, before the season is over a passenger rate war on an extensive scale is likely to result.

Indiana Attracts Much Attention Along Charity Lines.

Prof. Amos W. Butler, secretary of the Indiana State Board of Charities, will attend the national conference of charities and correction, in Washington, D. C., May 9 to 21. He said, yesterday, that Indiana people are coming more and more into recognition at these conferences. This year's programme, which has been issued, contains the names of a number of Indianians, or those who have resided in this State. Professor Butler is chairman of the child-saving committee, and will submit its report Friday, May 10. Prof. Charles R. Henderson, of Chicago University, will talk of "The Neglected Child of a Neglected Community" on the same day. Saturday, May 11, Ernest P. Bicknell, exsecretary of the Indiana Board of State Charities, now in charge of the associated charities of Chicago, will lead in discussion of the subject, "Special Field of National Legislation." The report of the committee on "public subsidies to private charities" will be read Monday morning, May 13, by Prof. Frank A. Fetter, now of the department of political economy of Cornell University. Hon. Bird S. Coler, city controller of New York, will discuss "The Subsidy Problem in New York City."
